Differential Equations for Operators and Applications to Implementation Problems

Un Cig Ji

Chungbuk National University, Korea uncigji@chungbuk.ac.kr

Based on a Ridging of Hilbert spaces, we study Fock-type expansions of operators which gives a motivation of differential operators acting on a certain class of operators. Then we study the differential equations associated with the differential operators and applications to implementation problems related to canonical commutation relations. This talk is based on several joint works with N. Obata.